About the Liaison Advisory Committee on Transfer Students (LACTS)

Iowa has a long history of voluntary cooperation among the state universities, community colleges and their respective governing bodies to improve the transfer experience of students. In 1972 the Liaison Advisory Committee on Transfer Students (LACTS) was formed as a voluntary partnership comprised of representatives from the Iowa community colleges; the Regent Universities; the Board of Regents; State of Iowa; and the Iowa Department of Education.

Beginning with the approval of the first statewide articulation agreement in 1973, LACTS has developed each of the statewide agreements, including: the associate of arts, the associate of science, and a number of career and technical agreements. The agreements undergo an annual review and reaffirmation process under the direction of the LACTS Committee, and most of the agreements have been revised to enhance clarity and to improve course transfer.

The voluntary and collaborative nature of the efforts to improve the transfer process were acknowledged in part through the passage of legislation in 2007 which approved the development of a unified state transfer website, called TransferInIowa.org. In 2009, legislation titled: Relating to the Articulation Agreements between Public Postsecondary Institutions and to the Dissemination of Articulation Information, was signed into law and formalized much of the work being done to improve the transfer process. This legislation directs LACTS to submit an annual report to the general assembly as an update on the articulation efforts and activities implemented by the community colleges and regent universities. [Related Iowa Code sections: 256.9, 260C.14, and 262.9]

Today, LACTS continues to lead efforts to improve the process for students transferring from community colleges to the regent universities. The work of LACTS demonstrates our commitment to cooperation and is rooted in the notion that effective transfer of courses is vital to the success of students. LACTS supports completion of associate degrees whenever appropriate, as an evidence-based practice that leads to greater success after transfer, and particularly higher rates of completion of bachelor's degrees. However, some students will benefit from an earlier transfer to the four-year institutions and therefore, personalized advising based on the individual needs of students is also essential to their success.

The articulation agreements described in this guide promote a smooth, seamless transfer of courses, and they communicate our promise to and expectations of students and families. Thus, these agreements must be seen under the light of partnership – partnerships between the colleges and universities themselves and partnerships between the students and the institutions they attend.

These agreements are not intended to replace regular advising and support. Colleges and universities must provide quality advising and transfer assistance, and students must be empowered to seek out such guidance on a regular basis to ensure they are choosing the courses, programs, and pathways that best meet their personal, academic, and career goals.

Career and Technical Programs in Electronics/ Electronics-Based Technology Agreement (Discontinued)

This agreement was discussed and voted to be discontinued at the April 12, 2019 Liaison Advisory Committee for Transfer Students (LACTS) Business Meeting.

Graduates of Iowa community college's electronics/electronics-based technology programs who are accepted at an Iowa public university will meet the standards as outlined below and will be granted transfer credit as outlined below.

1. The electronics/electronics-based technology curriculum is specifically recommended by the Iowa community colleges career and technical deans group in the statement of approved courses, competencies, and credit recommendations as agreed to by the public universities.
2. Students must have received the Associate of Applied Science degree (Associate of Sciences degree in the case of Northeast Iowa Community College) and must have attained a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.00 on a 4.00 scale.
3. This agreement will not supersede any existing program-to-program articulation agreements or substitute for any reached at a later date between any individual community college and a public university.
4. Students may choose the most appropriate transfer credit option offered by the receiving public university.
5. Regardless of the transfer option selected, students will receive 32 semester hours of ungraded transfer credit from the public university. This credit will reduce the additional credit required for a baccalaureate degree to the extent that course equivalencies can be established or that the hours can be applied as elective credit in the program selected by the student.
6. It is understood that the credit accepted for transfer under this agreement will be in addition to transferable and graded arts and sciences credit earned at the respective community college.
7. Of the course work earned at a community college, students may apply up to one-half the required total (but not more than 65) semester hours of credit toward a bachelor's degree at a public university.
8. This agreement is effective for students entering a public university beginning fall semester, 1996.

9. The chair of the LACTS will initiate a meeting each spring, where the current agreement is reviewed by the following:
- a. Arts and Sciences Administrators — Iowa Community Colleges
 - b. Deans of Liberal Arts — Iowa Public Universities
 - c. Chief Student Services Administrators — Iowa Community Colleges
 - d. Directors of Admissions — Iowa Public Universities
 - e. Career and Technical Deans — Iowa Community Colleges

Evaluating International Student Academic Credentials (Discontinued)

This agreement was discussed and voted to be discontinued at the April 6, 2018 Liaison Advisory Committee for Transfer Students (LACTS) Business Meeting. It was determined that it is no longer needed due to the increased number of international credit evaluation services.

- 1. The public universities will, upon request of an Iowa community college and in accordance with their own policies and procedures, evaluate academic credentials of international students attending Iowa’s community colleges who subsequently plan to transfer to one of the public universities. This service will be provided only once per student prior to application to the public university to which the international student plans to matriculate.
- 2. The community colleges will provide the necessary official documents. These transcripts must be certified as true copies of original documents. It is imperative that the community colleges have original documents from which they can make certified copies. Additional information needed for an evaluation (i.e., the student’s educational chronology, or English translations of academic records), will be submitted by the community colleges if requested by the public universities.
- 3. The chair of the LACTS will initiate a meeting each spring, where the current agreement is reviewed by the following:
